2009 Bid for Better Health

2009 Bid for Better Health

The NC Medical Society Alliance will host the 2009 Bid for Better Health, an on-line auction dedicated to supporting Alliance health promotion projects and community grants. Proceeds from the auction will support upcoming state-wide and local Alliance projects focusing on improving physical fitness, nutrition, teen health literacy and other health-related projects benefitting North Carolina communities.

North Carolina Medical Society Alliance

Organized in 1923, the North Carolina Medical Society Alliance (NCMS Alliance) is a 501 (c)(3) charitable volunteer organization representing more than 1,200 physician spouses and physicians dedicated to improving the health and quality of life of North Carolinians through community service, advocacy and fundraising aimed at promoting better public health. As a partner to the North Carolina Medical Society, the NCMS Alliance is also committed to supporting physicians and the future of medicine. Membership in the NCMS Alliance supports a number of important state programs and provides a voice on issues impacting health in North Carolina. For more than 86 years, the NCMS Alliance has served North Carolinians through the development and delivery of effective health-related programs and community projects.

Recent and Upcoming NCMS Alliance Projects

- Get Fit NC to promote good nutrition and physical fitness with an emphasis on kids
- Hosts the Get Fit NC 5K to raise money for the purchase of physical education equipment for NC public schools in need
- Adolescent Health Symposium and other workshops for parents and professionals dedicated to improving the health and well-being of North Carolina's youth
- Participation in Screen Out!, a nationwide initiative to eliminate smoking in movies and raise awareness about the harm on-screen tobacco use causes
